NEDA AYATI

Neda Ayati, birthed amidst the splendors of Isfahan, has always been a visual storyteller at heart. Initially drawn to the vibrant symbols of Safavid-era architecture, her artistic journey transitioned from graphic design's static visuals to the tactile depth of sculpture. But as her craft evolved, so did her narratives. From creating detailed static sculptures and portraits, Neda began weaving intricate tales into her art. No longer mere representations, her pieces transformed into immersive stories cast in metal and clay. The shift from a bronze portrait of the acclaimed Tahereh Saffarzadeh to the grand 15-meter legend of pearl divers on Kish Island exemplifies this evolving narrative style. Embracing digital advancements with tools like ZBrush, she continues this narrative-driven approach, merging past and present, tangible and virtual. Looking ahead, her narrative ambitions have expanded to the realm of installations, combining video, painting, and storytelling, where audiences don't just observe but actively participate in the artwork's formation. Dive into this portfolio to witness Neda Ayati's evolution, where storytelling is sculpted into form and experience.
